

Students will write information from multiple sources on each puzzle piece to visualize how each individual source contributes to a deeper understanding of a topic or complex question.

